A modern relocation experience for your employees

Your relocating employees deserve an experience that mirrors how they already manage their everyday lives as users of modern consumer apps. With Topia, your employees have access to powerful online tools to manage their relocation paired with 24/7 live support - no matter where in the world the employee is.

The experience for employees brings together a modern and intuitive interface with live and custom information. The result is engaged employees with peace of mind knowing the status of their relocation, at every step of the way.

Empower your employees with information and control

Whether a relocation is a managed move or self service, employees need clear explanations of their benefits, and the tools and information to stay on top of their move. Topia Go empowers your employees with a detailed benefits page, configured task lists, predictive timelines, status notifications, online service booking, expense management and more.

We also ensure your employees feel comfortable with their new home and settle quickly. Our City Guides bring together curated content from expat writers with millions of live data points to provide a dynamic, yet personal view of their new city. In a growing number of urban areas, our Neighborhood Search quickly finds you the most cost & commute optimal locations in relation to your new office - a huge time saver when kicking off a real estate search!

Reduce HR time spent supporting relocating employees

Employees supported by Topia have all the relevant information about their move right at their fingertips. And when they have a question, their Topia Advocate is available 24/7 to help them along the way. The result for HR is a reduction in the number of phone calls and emails required to support an employee on assignment or relocation. The result for employees is smoother moves with greater satisfaction scores.

“The tool gave me very clear steps of the whole process with proactive information about what I would go through and my new home. Between my online hub and my Topia Consultant I had the general sense of being truly supported during this stressful period.”
