

Vendor Management

available in Topia One

Centralized, technology-enabled management of your service providers

Delivering a world-class mobility program requires the right service partners covering everything from immigration, to real estate, to language and cultural training, to household goods shipping, and everything in between. Topia makes it easy for you to manage your entire supplier ecosystem in a single place with greater insights, automation, controls, and flexibility.

Thanks to the data standard provided by Topia One, organizations gain a complete view of their global provider network, easily evaluating key metrics like spend, utilization, and satisfaction. Topia also makes it easy to add, remove, or expand relationships with providers in a few clicks, and instantly see these changes reflected in the providers initiated for services within Topia's fully automated workflows. Topia moves mobility vendor management away from manual reports, emails, and authorization forms into a modern, efficient and agile practice.

Key Capabilities:

Automate the vendor initiation process for approved moves and assignments

Topia offers multiple ways to initiate your vendors. More sophisticated vendors can connect to Topia One via API while smaller vendors can be initiated via tasks as part of the configured workflows to alert vendors of new employees to service.

Provide access to vendors with specific user roles

Vendors can access Topia One with defined user permissions ensuring that they only have access to the information absolutely required to perform their services or provide updates on the status of services.

Add, edit, deactivate and reactivate service providers

There's no need to go through long technology reimplementations when making a provider change. With a few quick clicks, organizations can make changes in Topia One and immediately see initiations start going out to new providers within their existing configured processes.

Policy updates automatically reflected to vendors

Thanks to the Topia One standard data model - changes made in your policy automatically flow through to vendors. Changing the duration or amount of a benefit offered in a given policy instantly updates what is authorized and initiated with service providers.

Self-service control via Topia One's Configuration Hub

Topia provides technology with an easy-to-use interface, enabling organizations to make updates in a matter of minutes without needing to rely on third-party support and expensive configuration fees.
